Identifying With Dave

Dave Ackerman

If you happened to take a world history course at Cass City High School from Dave Ackerman you probably participated in a contest of identifying personalities on the world scene both past and present.

The class would line up in a row and Dave would show a picture on a screen and ask one by one to identify the person. If you knew the name of the person at your turn you could move ahead of those in line who couldn't. Whoever was at the head of the line at the end of the contest was the winner. If you would concentrate on a couple of hard ones you could have a good chance of winning the next time.

In that tradition the following are pictures of people, past and present, associated with the Cass City area that were mostly gleaned from the Chronicle archives. Test yourself to see how many you can identify.
